

Susan has been a practicing Physician Assistant (PA) for more than 22 years. For the past 7 years she practiced full-time in a busy allergy practice in Arizona. Susan is passionate about educating patients, students, and colleagues about any topic related to allergy. She currently is an allied health member of the American Academy of Allergy Asthma and Immunology (AAAAI) and the American College of Allergy Asthma and Immunology (ACAAI) and currently serves as the medical liaison for the American Academy of Physician Assistants (AAPA) to the AAAAI. In addition to being the immediate past president to the AAPA Allergy Asthma and Immunology specialty organization, Susan also serves on their board of directors. She has published peer reviewed articles, is a national speaker for continuing medical education conferences and has presented on many topics including anaphylaxis, screening for primary immunodeficiency, dermatological disorders in allergy, chronic cough, pulmonary function workshops, and asthma. She currently is a full-time faculty member at the University of Washington MEDEX NW PA Program in Seattle.

In her spare time, Susan enjoys spending time with her two children and her yellow lab. Her favorite sports are college football, basketball and volleyball. She enjoys all genres of music and plays the oboe and piano. She also exercises frequently and loves the outdoors to hike or to go for a long bike ride.
